

HERO DOCTORS

Don your white coat and test your knowledge of bones, diseases, and life-saving treatments.

1. The fibula, tibia, and femur are all bones in which part of the human body? _____

2. Name the American doctor who developed a vaccine against polio.

3. Rubella is a highly infectious, short-lived disease that affects children and young adults. What is its more common name? _____

4. Which system of treatment uses massage, manipulation, and the stretching of joints to treat backache and pain in the legs, neck, and head?

5. Which part of the human body contains the pineal body, the parietal lobe, and the frontal lobe? _____

6. What familiar piece of a doctor's equipment was invented by the French physician René Théophile Hyacinthe Laënnec in 1819?

7. Which highly infectious disease was declared in 1980 to have been completely eradicated? _____

8. What is the name of the curved bone, also known as the collarbone, that lies horizontally at the base of the neck between the sternum (breastbone) and the scapula (shoulder bone)? _____

9. Who is considered the father of medicine? _____

10. Which lifesaving device was designed by Philip Drinker in 1928?
