

IMAGINE YOUR STORY!

Our theme this year for our Summer Reading Program could not be more fitting, could it? In this topsy-turvy time, imaginations can run wild. And here at the LPL, we encourage wild and free imaginations, especially those that are cultivated by book readers. Our Summer Reading Program is going to be a little different for the summer of 2020. And different is good. Different gives us the opportunity to try new things!

This summer we are offering 6 weekly activities to help you nurture your story. These activities can be done as a family (families of all types included) or done as an individual. We are encouraging you to interact with your community and family in a way that will capture the story of this time and shed light on your journey. To accompany our weekly activities, we will challenge you to meet a weekly reading goal. This goal can be accomplished by either the family or the individual. The goal will increase each week and is meant to be challenging and fun. To help you meet the reading goal we have included Reading Bingo sheets and lists of suggested reading titles for all ages.

Be an essential part of our reading community!

Lastly, we will not be offering prizes this summer. Instead we want to share your stories and offer up bragging rights. Send us pictures of you accomplishing activities, reading stories, writing stories, and living out stories. We hope to share your stories on our website & social media outlets, local newspaper & radio, and around our library. Help us promote the Library's story through the sharing of your story. If you are not comfortable with sharing your accomplishments, we want you to know that we see you and are incredibly proud of the activities you complete.

Thanks for joining us this summer at the LPL. Help us make it one for the books!
